Proclamation
City of Franklin, Kentucky

WHEREAS, forty years after the passage of the Equal Pay Act and Title VII of the Civil Rights Act, women continue to suffer the consequences of inequitable pay differentials; and according to statistics released in 2006, the average weekly wage for full-time working women was only 81% of the earnings of year-round, full-time working men, indicating little change or progress in pay equity; and

WHEREAS, with all factors being equal, if women received the same salary as men for the same type work, then women’s annual family income would rise by approximately $4,000, and poverty rates cut in half; and
